DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Claims 8-15 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected method of manufacturing a high voltage transformer, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 6.

Priority

2. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

3. Figures 8-9 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Application/Control Number: 09/543,865

Art Unit: 2832

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, line 5, there is no antecedent basis for "said sensor accommodating part."

Claims 2-7 inherit the defect of the parent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over applicant's admitted prior art shown in figure 8 and 9 (AAPA, hereinafter) in view of Joseph [US 4,112,405].

AAPA, figure 8, discloses a high voltage transformer [120] comprising:

- a core [123];
- a primary and secondary coils [125, 129];
- an insulating sheet [133, figure 9] enclosing the secondary coil; and
- a temperature sensor [135] disposed between the insulating sheet and the secondary coil.

AAPA discloses the instant claimed invention except for the insulating sheet supporting and enclosing the coil and including a accommodating pocket for the temperature sensor.

Application/Control Number: 09/543,865

Art Unit: 2832

Joseph disclose a bobbin [29] for a coil [38] including a flange portion [30] having a pocket, or accommodating means [31] for a temperature sensor/fuse [34], wherein the accommodating means is of a shape permitting the temperature sensor/fuse to be put into, and taken out of, the accommodating means.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the temperature sensor accommodating means design of Joseph in AAPA for the purpose of facilitating installation.

Regarding claims 4 and 7, AAPA discloses the temperature sensor comprising one of a thermostat, a thermistor and a fuse.

8. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over AAPA in view of Joseph as applied to claims 1-5 above, and further in view of Lautner et al. [US 3,959,675]. AAPA in view of Joseph discloses the instant claimed invention except for the accommodating means comprising an external pocket forming element.

Lautner et al. discloses a bobbin structure [11] having an external pocket forming element [see figures 1-5] for a temperature sensor [18].

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to mount the accommodating means of AAPA, as modified, externally, as suggested by Lautner et al., for the purpose of providing easier access.

Application/Control Number: 09/543,865

Art Unit: 2832

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
